Bronchitis	1	Mary Halliday Æt 41 Convict 3rd August 1845 At Sea Carried forward	A delicate woman subject to Chronic Bronchitis complained last evening from a mild attack of Chronic Bronchitis. She has been very seasick for several days. Bowels constipated, had Pil Colocynth Comp ii last night which have operated well and today feels relieved, when breathing cough being looser and expectoration now free. ℞ Tinct Scillæ g'xxv Vin Antim Tart g'xv Aquæ ℥j ℞ f<sup>o</sup> Haust Capiat j ter die et horâ somni adde Tinct Opii g'xx. 4th Breathing more oppressed during the night but relieved towards morning after vomiting, has sense of tightness now in the chest, no pain. Pulse 80 and soft. Bowels open. Cont. Haust ut heri ter die. 5th Has less difficulty of respiration and is much wheezing or mucous roll. Bowels open. Tongue clean. Pulse natural. Cont. Haust. ut antea. 6th Sense of stuffing now more today. Expectoration tenacious and ropy. Bowels regular. Pulse hard. Habeat. Haust. Mistura Ant Pot. Tartrate et [?] Cont. Haust. statim. 7th Had sensation of chocking last night. Cough incessant, expectoration more freely today. Pulse natural. Application Emplast Lyttæ [?] Haust ut antea. 8th Experienced relief from the blister which has risen well. Pulse, Tongue &amp; Skin natural. Cont. GENERAL REMARKS

The Lloyds Female Convict Ship fitted out at Deptford, dropped down the river from that place to Woolwich on the 17th of July 1845 and on the following day I examined one hundred and seventy Female Prisoners at the Millbank Prison all of them apparently enjoying good health. On July 19th seventy Prisoners with eight of their children were received on board from the Millbank Prison and on the 20th the remaining one hundred Female Prisoners with nine of their children arrived from the same Establishment. On the 26th the Lloyds sailed from Woolwich and finally from the Downs on the 29th of July and anchored in the River Derwent off Hobart Town Van Diemen's Land on the 7th of November following, being under the passage in one hundred and four days and all the Prisoners were landed on the 12th of November. The Lloyds had no reason to put into any Port on her passage out. The Prisoners have been healthy during the voyage on first starting they suffered very severely from seasickness, from which they recovered in about a fortnight or three weeks. Constipated Bowels have been very frequent among them. Towards the latter part of the voyage the Prisoners fell off in appearance, some complaining of cold and Rheumatic pains occasioned by their feet being continually wet from their shoes being in a defective state and the Upper Deck constantly wet from shipping seas.

One case had spongy gums but no other symptoms of Scurvy. All those disembarked were healthy at the time, although not quite so stout as they had been a fortnight previously. During the period of this Journal, forty-two cases have been placed on the Sick List (six of whom have been Convict's children), thirty-five have been discharged cured, six sent to Hospital (one being a Convict's child) one died on board a convict's child and one child born on the 22nd of October. Eight lines have been inserted in the Journal, are the only ones requiring any particular mention. Of the forty-two cases admitted in the Sick List they have consisted of one case of fever in a Convict's child which proved fatal is detailed in the Journal Case 2. Two cases of Phlogosis which have been slight and soon yielded to the usual means. The case of Ophthalmia presenting nothing worthy of notice. The Case of Cynanche Parotidæa was slight and soon yielded to mild means. One case of Bronchitis which has been on the Sick List nearly the whole of the passage and has been sent to the Hospital is detailed in Case 1. Five cases of Rheumatismus, four have been discharged cured and one sent to the Hospital is detailed in Case 8. Two cases of Podagra occurring in the same person, an old woman who has been free from an attack for the last six weeks. One case of Aphthæ in a Convict's child which soon yielded to the usual means. One case of Haemorrhoids presenting nothing worthy of notice. Two cases of Catarrhus slight and soon yielded to mild treatment of Aperients and diaphoretics. Six cases of Dyspepsia, four of them were extreme cases of Exhaustion from sea sickness. They have all been discharged cured. One case of Epilepsia in a Convict's child, which was followed by Inability of Intellect, she was sent to Hospital is detailed in Case No 5. One case of Colica which yielded to the usual treatment of purgatives of Calomel, Jalap, and Castor Oil. Ten cases of Diarrhoea which have in general been attended by some bilious vomiting's which could not be checked till the mouth was affected by some preparation of Scurvy. One case is detailed in the Journal Case 3. One case of syphilis (secondary), of longstanding in a prostitute, was some time on the Sick List, but the Disease yielded after she had been salivated. Two cases of Scorbutus, one an old woman who was desponded very much. The other is a woman who was suckling two infants, both cases are detailed in the Journal in cases 4 and 7. One case of Vulnus which was very slight arising from a scald. Two cases of caries of the Inferior Maxillary bones occurring in the same person who was twice on the Sick List, the first time a large portion of bone (caries) came away by the mouth when the Ulcer burst, she was unremitted. The Ulcer being again broken out and the carious bone could be felt by a probe rough - she was sent to Hospital is detailed in case No 6.

One case of Parturition after a short labour and natural presentation a female child was born. No infectious or malignant Diseases have existed on the Ship during the period of this Journal.

General Economy of the Ship.

The Lower Deck was always kept dry & warm and comfortable, swinging stoves being used in wet and cold weather: My general plan of cleaning the Lower Deck was by wet holystoning it every Saturday (weather permitting) at which time all the Prisoners were kept on deck till the Lower Deck was thoroughly dry again, and then by daily sweeping out the sleeping berths before storing the beds and sweeping the Lower deck four times every day, it could be kept clean, till the following Saturday. By these means no dampness was occasioned on the Lower Deck - in damp or blowing weather the Lower Deck was never wetted, it was thus cleaned by scraping it out when any wet got in the Lower Deck, either by sea going down the Hatchways or from rain, it was immediately dried up and swinging stoves sent down. By these means, the Lower Deck was always dry, warm and comfortable, a great advantage when so many people are congregated together. Chloride of Lime was occasionally sprinkled over the Lower Deck and daily some of it put down the Water Closets. The Prisoners stowed their beds in the Messes on the Lower Deck being found that it was a much better place than stowing them on Deck.

The Prisoners were sent on deck every morning at half past six or seven to suit themselves, as soon as the Upper Deck was ready for them. Strict orders were given that there should be no washing on the Lower Deck or any wet clothes taken down on that deck. Two days in the week for washing their dirty linen, one half of the Prisoners washing one day, the other half the next.

In issuing the Lime Juice I gave it every other day and on the intermediate day a jug of wine. On the 22nd of October the Prisoners refused taking the Lime Juice when the wine was given more frequently.
